 All our gluten free items are cooked separately, but we do not have a separate pan. For every gluten free order one of our pans is thoroughly filtered, and then all gluten free items are cooked on their own and kept separate from any other items. It is then handled using separate tongs when being boxed up.

Every possible care is taken, but we must disclaim that they still may contain trace amounts of gluten.

Although every care is taken, a lot of raw and cooked fish is handled on this premises, so all items may contain trace amounts of fish.
